At last the allies are able to see through Lens.

It's a long, hard road for the Germans from the Hindenburg line to the German border.

When Austria-Hungary begins to feel the prick of the allied opening drive on her southeastern flank the Vienna government is likely to follow the lead of Bulgaria. The outlook for Austria-Hungary has taken on a very gloomy tinge during the last few days.

Few people thought that in the year 1918 civilization could sink to such a low ebb as it is reliably reported to have sunk in Russia and particularly in Petrograd, the former capital of the great country. It is indeed a reign of terror which is washing the streets of Petrograd with blood and putting the firebrand to everything which does not represent the bolshevik spirit. And yet, it is said that ninety per cent of the people of the Russian are opposed to bolshevik rule and are only waiting for the moment when some leader will come among them to shake off the shackles of fear that dominate them. Or it may be some nation with high ideals, whose representatives take up the task of the regeneration of Russia. In that latter case the eyes of the world turn involuntarily toward the United States. It is a tremendous task which lies ahead of the nation which endeavors to bring Russia out of chaos but the accomplished fact would be a splendid reward.

The loss of the submarine bases on the Belgian coast would tend greatly to cripple the U-boat arm of Germany. The smaller submarines which operate in more or less local waters about the British Isles have their headquarters at Ostend and Zeebrugge, or they did before the British made occupancy there rather precarious; and the elimination of those ports as submarine bases would mean that the German admiralty would have to go farther back into its own waters to find a haven for the whole fleet of the sea vipers. Therefore, the force on which Germany has professed complete reliance to stop the flow of American troops (which force everyone outside of the central powers admits has been a failure) would be much handicapped in its work. One by one Germany is being stripped of the elements of strength, and one of these days Germany's defenseless body will lie open to the allied will.

INFLUENZA SITUATION.

The influenza situation in Barre has been looking distinctly better during the last twenty-four hours and there is reason to believe that with steady, determined efforts on the part of the workers and a spirit of optimism among the people as a whole the epidemic can be stamped out in a short time or brought at a point where the ravages will be negligible. Strict adherence to the simple rules laid down by the board of health for the individuals and rigid obedience to the regulations as regards the congregating of people are imperative in order to bring the epidemic to quick extinction, and The Times urges everyone to maintain the greatest vigilance despite the improved conditions. An optimistic mental attitude will also go far toward relieving the conditions that have existed for the past week or more. Think on the brighter side of the situation, while at the same time not getting over-confident or careless.

GERMAN DESPERATION.

The cables from the western war front have not been recording marked advances by either the French or the Americans on the Champagne front during the last few days; and the reason may be given as the fact that extreme necessity has compelled the German high command to throw a large part of its best reserve strength into that sector in order to prevent the cutting off of the prospective retreat back across north-eastern France and Belgium to German soil. If the allies should be able to cut in back of the German forces the movement would act as one of two claws to an immense trap which Foch is setting to catch the greater part of the Kaiser's forces, the other claw being the extensive drive which has penetrated to a considerable depth in Belgium under the impetus of the British, the Belgians and the French. Of the two movements the one to the south maneuvered by the French and Americans would probably prove the most harmful to the German cause. That, then, explains why the German high command has been hurling great numbers of the best reserves into the Champagne sector and that is why the progress of the Franco-Americans, particularly of the Americans has been so comparatively slow during the past week. Nevertheless both the Americans and the French are maintaining steady pressure and they are advancing slowly but surely against the desperate resistance of the Germans. They do not yet seriously threaten the German retreat, it is probable, but they form a distinct menace and will prove an actual bar if more pressure enables them to break through. Therefore, it would be well to watch the southern sector of the far-flung battle line.

WASHINGTON

Funeral services for the late Guy Burnham, who died in Camp Devens a few days ago, were held at the Universalist church yesterday at 1 o'clock p. m. Rev. James Ramage officiating. Burial was made in the new cemetery. In the passing of this young man, the relatives have the heartfelt sympathy. Guy was a young man held in high esteem by everyone. The bearers were Roy Scott, Charles Hall, Day Richardson and William Richardson.

Allen Chief, Mrs. B. F. Caldwell and Mrs. G. W. Downing are victims of the grip.

Fred Demas has moved to the Dan. P. Magson farm, which he recently purchased.

Owing to the prevailing epidemic, it has been thought best to close the public library until further notice. The public schools, which have been closed this week, will not be opened next week, on account of the distemper.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bohonon of Chelsea are visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Huntington for a few days.

Miss Emily Comp is in town and is moving her furniture to rooms in M. O. Calef's house.

YOU MUST TRY IT

You'll be surprised to know that macaroni can have such a delightful taste if you use Warner's Macaroni.

Besides its appealing flavor it is the most wholesome and healthful macaroni you can buy.

Warner's MACARONI

Made pure and clean from the finest durum wheat in a modern factory. Its yellow color is the gluten in the grain and denotes unusual quality.

Warner's is a superior macaroni that costs you no more than other brands. Ask your grocer for it.

The U. S. Food Administration has permitted the return to normal conditions in the manufacture of macaroni; therefore, there is no further need of abstinence in its use.

SOUTH CABOT

Mr. and Mrs. George Hartson of East Hardwick visited at Will Hartson's the first of the week.

Word was received Wednesday that there would be no more school until Oct. 14.

George Gee was in St. Johnsbury on Sunday to attend the funeral of Mr. Russell.

Clyde Brown, who has been confined to his bed for the past 10 days with the Spanish influenza, is gaining slowly.

Ellis Leonard went to Newton, Mass., recently to stay this winter, where he has a job. His family went some time since.

Esther Wells of Cabot is teaching in East Cabot, while Miss Conner is in Barre, caring for her mother, who is ill.

Minnie Scott of Rutland is visiting at Ernest Brown's for a few days.

Rev. Mr. Piatt, wife and daughter of Cabot were in the place calling Tuesday.

A. Fannie Smith is at her home, sick with a cold.

Charles Houghton and son, Raymond, of Cabot are stopping here at his farm for a few days.

Rosie Darling was in Woodbury the first of the week for a few days.

Samuel Lock went to Detroit, Mich., Monday, where he expects to stay this winter.

DEATH AT BRATTLEBORO.

Clifford Nichols, Aged 21, Died Yesterday—His Wife Is Very Ill.

Brattleboro, Oct. 4.—Although there are far less cases of influenza here than in some parts of the state, the board of health deems it wise not to take any chances, and to-day Health Officer Henry Tucker announced that the order prohibiting school sessions, church meetings and public gatherings of all kinds for this week would be continued through another week. There are now about 125 cases of influenza under quarantine.

Yesterday afternoon Clifford Nichols, aged 21, died in the emergency hospital of pneumonia, following influenza. His wife, who is a patient there, is too ill to be told of her husband's death. Two of his brothers, a sister, and the wife of one of the brothers are ill in the hospital.

Your Bond Is Here

We have just received a supply of Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds and can make immediate delivery against full payment.

However, if you cannot or do not wish to pay in full for your bond, you may pay according to the government installment plan or on our easy-payment weekly plan of $1 per week.

REMEMBER THIS—Your subscription for a bond on the $1 a week plan will be just as much appreciated by your government at this time as if you paid in full.

We are handicapped in the raising of this loan to a very considerable degree by health conditions, but we must raise our quota and show our government that despite this discouragement we are going to stand and be counted.

WHAT DO YOU SAY? Let us do all we can for the present to help the suffering here at home, and then let us pull our coats off and dig up our share of the "Fighting Fourth."

WILLIAMSTOWN

The public library will not be open on Saturday and will be closed until further notice. Schools, churches, lodges and society meetings of all kinds are also under the ban in the interest of the public health. Visiting of all kinds should be postponed till the danger of contagion from influenza is passed. Those who habitually keep their rooms well aired, eat plain foods and keep up a cheerful spirit are doing much to ward off disease.

William and Francis Lazell, who went to Springfield a short time ago to work are back at their home on South Main street. The first named was called to join the colors on the 9th, though this order has since been recalled. Francis has a severe cold caused by exposure during outdoor work in Springfield, and there are symptoms of influenza. The house is under quarantine.

Miss Emma Martin of Plainfield is in town with her aunt and uncle, Gertrude and Albert G. Martin.

Brigham Academy in Bakersfield is closed for the present and Richard Martin is at home.

Schools in Moretown being closed, Miss Edna Waldo is at home for a time.

Hiram S. Drury, rural carrier on route No. 3 was called to Woodstock by the sickness of relatives last Saturday and his trip has been covered by Geo. E. Wilber, substitute on route No. 2, for the past four days.

Frank A. Brockway, who has been at home on a brief furlough from his duties as naval officer with headquarters at New York, took the midnight train at Barre on Wednesday to return to that city.

It is not often that a house is attacked by an automobile but this is what seemingly happened last week when a car from the south, finding another car stalled on the temporary bridge near Mrs. Waldo's on South Main street, was turned aside to avoid a collision and before its speed could be checked, collided with the house occupied by Carl Willey with sufficient force to cause some of the brick to fall from the chimney. The front of the car was jammed and one lamp smashed, but we are glad to report that the house was damaged but slightly.

The meeting of the Rural Good Luck club that was scheduled for next Saturday is postponed till further notice.

Ronald and Francis Irons, students at Brigham Academy, are at work in that town during the vacation of the school on account of the epidemic.

Walter Wilbur of East Calais made a brief call on relatives in town last Saturday while on his way home from Bellows Falls, where he had been on a visit to his son.

Dr. Carl F. Robinson, after several strenuous days attending to calls from patients, many of these being influenza cases, contracted the disease himself and has been obliged to remain at home sick for several days past. Yesterday his condition was reported to be slightly improved.

The schools in this place will remain closed for another week, owing to the epidemic of influenza.

PLAINFIELD

Get ready for a good, jolly evening Saturday when the Nellie Gill Players will present "The Tyranny of Tears." Dancing as usual.

By order of the local health authorities there will be no church services in Plainfield next Sunday and no Wednesday evening meeting.
